The project facilitates east-west traffic movement between Wilsonville/Villebois urban village and western destinations (Sherwood/Newberg areas and greater Washington and Yamhill counties) for both commuters and freight by completing the Boeckman Road extension across the Coffee Lake wetlands.

The project improves safety of a busy freight route intersection (Tooze/Boeckman and Grahams Ferry Roads) per an Inter-Governmental Agreement (IGA) with Oregon Dept. of Transportation (ODOT).

In addition to improving safety, the project facilitates the efficient movement of freight for the growing West Wilsonville/Coffee Creek industrial area by creating a safer route located away from a dense, developing residential area known as the Villebois urban village, to be composed of 2,400 residential units with a population of 7,500 or more at build-out.

The intersection of Tooze/Boeckman and Grahams Ferry Roads is located in the immediate vicinity of a proposed new West Linn-Wilsonville School District elementary school that is to serve the Villebois urban village; the improved roadway increases pedestrian and public safety.
